

SRL Technical Services Ltd is a passionate team of consultants with an in-depth understanding of acoustics, air quality, environmental monitoring, BREEAM, compliance, ecology, laboratory testing and training.

We are seeking Acoustic Consultants to join our award-winning acoustics teams in our Birmingham, London, Manchester and Sudbury offices.

Senior Acoustic Consultants

This exciting opportunity offers a key part in shaping SRL's future. With a significant background in noise and/or vibration, we are looking for people who can demonstrate their ability to manage teams across large projects. A track record of new business development and maintaining existing client relationships is essential.

You will help SRL continue its technical development as well as supporting SRL's growing capabilities in other disciplines.

We are looking for people who are flexible, enthusiastic and practical, who can lead a team and are able to engage with clients and colleagues at all levels.

Key requirements:

- Be an MIOA
- A full driving licence
- Chartered Engineer (desired)

Acoustic Consultants

With at least three years' experience in acoustic consultancy, we are looking for consultants who can demonstrate effective project management. Experience with vibration will be an advantage.

We are looking for excellent communicators who are keen to develop client relationships and able to present their recommendations clearly and concisely. You need to be able to adapt to dynamic situations while remaining effective and focused on achieving your goals.

We are looking for resourceful engineers with the ability to come up with creative solutions on-site as well as in the office.
