

The company I am representing is a company that has seen growth from £4 million to £24 Million over the last 5 years, head office is based in Maesteg, great family owned feeling within the business, and they look to bring team members through the system by internal promotions.

Head Office is based in South Wales additional offices in Dubai and Singapore.

The salary is between £27K to 34K + annual bonus

Home Based with occasional travel to Maesteg or Ipswich.

The basics about the role:

Due to the continued success of the business, we are looking to strengthen the technical team by the recruitment of a Acoustics Engineer.

The purpose of the role will be to provide technical support to the internal and external sales, architects, customer service teams for product applications.

Main Responsibilities:

- Provide acoustics technical advice on the selection and specification of products
- Liaise with architects, contractors, installers and distributors
- Provide information on acoustic calculations
- Be Technical support on new projects

The person:

- Experience of working within an acoustic role
- Ability to provide written and verbal technical responses to a range of audiences
- Experience of analysing data
- Have a methodical approach to work
- Experience within construction would be beneficial

Education:

A degree/diploma in acoustic's and noise control

